

Social Media & Mobile Large Video Displays Come Together With Volanti Displays and Tint

Date : October 15, 2014

Social Media Where You Want It, When You Want It

Morgan Hill, CA – October 15, 2014 –Volanti Displays recently announced a unique offer for customers purchasing the Forza mobile video-wall. Every Forza purchase includes a one-month trial of TINT's Premium service ($1,000 value).

The ingenious Forza video-wall delivers a brilliant 94" or 110" display, packed in two rugged mobile carts that transform into the stands. Simply roll in place, pop up the gas-spring mechanism and connect the pre-configured wiring. There you go — a portable video-wall solution, ready-to-go in a matter of minutes.

TINT's unique platform, which displays social media feeds, is a perfect compliment to the Forza mobile video-wall.

"TINT is thrilled to embark on a partnership with Volanti to combine the next generation in mobile video screens with the social media world. TINT's technology combined with Volanti will enable anyone to pop up a social media activation to spread their message to mass audiences in less than 30 minutes," said Brandon Ancier, TINT's Director of Growth.

The new Forza mobile video-wall is designed for events where portability and rapid set-up is essential. Trade shows, sporting events, corporate trainings, weddings, fundraisers, roving museum exhibits and educational venues are just a few examples of where a mobile video-wall can bring a visual message to life.

"TINT, together with the Forza mobile video-wall, brings one of the most powerful forms of engagement – social media – to any event," said James Henry, CEO of Volanti Displays. TINT can pull feeds from over 10 social networks, including: Twitter, Google+, Facebook, Instagram, Pinterest, Vine, LinkedIn, Youtube, RSS feed and Tumblr.
